Dear Ms. Vernetta Kinchen,

I am hoping to get a chance to work alongside you as part of the web services and user experience team. I am experienced with all of your required qualifications, most of your desired ones, have a hearty appetite for indian food, and am a long time Spotify subscriber. All of which will make me a perfect fit for your team.

My decision to enter the field of web development came after having spent the greater part of my 20's in partnership with my brother. Together, we built an organic farm and a local food movement in our NJ hometown. After five years of hard work we decided to part ways, with my brother keeping the business. Having built the farm's website on Wordpress I knew web development would satisfy my need to tinker, problem solve, and create.

Since then I have immersed myself in the development world with the same intensity, passion, and excitement as with sustainable agriculture, completing a web development associate degree in two semesters. Listening to podcasts, participating in forums, and constantly creating have helped improve my knowledge and kept me up to date. This same drive will allow me to seamlessly transition onto you team. The process of programming fascinates me, and I hope to continue this trend of learning under your leadership.

I will be following up with you soon, but if you have any questions I can be reached at either my phone or email as listed in the header. Thank you for considering me for your apprenticeship program and I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

William Smith
